Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

HB 1202 would eliminate several state-budgeted accounts that are no longer used or obsolete, including the State Higher Education Construction Account, the Higher Education Construction Account, and the Higher Education Reimbursable Short-Term Bond Account. Fund balances, which are less than $2,500 collectively, would be transferred to other accounts. The University of Washington does not currently receive any funding from these accounts, so we do not anticipate any fiscal impact.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Under current law, the Department of Ecology administers the Water Quality Capital Account (WQCA).

Section 1 of this bill would eliminate the WQCA and other specified accounts.

Section 5 would require the residual balance in the WQCA to be transferred to the Salmon Recovery Account.

Section 6 would make the transfer effective immediately after the enactment of the bill, and the accounts would be eliminated effective July 1, 2023.

This bill has no fiscal impact to Ecology. There is no revenue or appropriation in the WQCA. The current balance in the WQCA is $34,227.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

This bill would eliminate certain fund accounts used by state agencies, including certain higher education construction accounts.

Section 1

Repeals statutes that authorized the creation of the:

- State Higher Education Construction Account
- Higher Education Construction Account
- Higher Education Reimbursable Short-Term Bond Account

Other sections of the bill remove references to these accounts.

Section 5

Any residual balance remaining in the Higher Education Construction Account and the State Higher Education Construction Account shall be transferred to the Community and Technical College Capital Projects Account by June 30, 2023.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

Minimal cash receipts impact.

Section 5 would transfer any residual balances in the Higher Education Construction Account and State Higher Education Construction Account to the Community and Technical College Capital Projects Account by June 30, 2023. Based on current fund balances, approximately $3,000 would be transferred. This would be a one-time transfer in FY23.

The fiscal note system for the current legislative session does not allow amounts for fiscal year 2023 to be displayed. Because of this, cash receipts are discussed in the narrative shown above, but are not represented in the fiscal note tables.

II. C - Expenditures
