Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

CURRENT LAW:

The opportunity scholarship program provides scholarships that help low and middle-income Washington residents earn professional-technical certificates, professional-technical degrees, baccalaureate degrees in high employer demand and other programs of study, and advanced degrees in health professions, and encourage them to remain in the state to work.

A combination of private grants and contributions and state matching funds fund the program. Private contributions help determine the state match. Donations and pledges received as of the date the Caseload Forecast Council submits each official state caseload forecast to the legislative fiscal committees help determine the state match.

The state match, up to a maximum of $50 million annually, is provided the January 1st following the end of the fiscal year in which collections of state retail sales and use tax, state business and occupation tax, and state public utility tax exceed, by 10% the amounts collected from these taxes in the fiscal year that ended June 30, 2008, as determined by the Department of Revenue(department).

PROPOSAL:

The state match (and its maximum) remain intact.

However, the bill removes the provision that the state match is to be provided the January 1st following the end of the fiscal year in which collections of state retail sales and use tax, state business and occupation tax, and state public utility tax exceed, by 10% the amounts collected from these taxes in the fiscal year that ended June 30, 2008.

EFFECTIVE DATE:

The bill takes effect 90 days after final adjournment of the session in which it is enacted.

This legislation results in no revenue impact to taxes administered by the Department of Revenue.

II. C - Expenditures

Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. ## Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

The Washington Student Achievement Council (WSAC) conducts the procurement process and facilitates contracting with a program administrator on behalf of the Opportunity Scholarship Board (RCW 28B.145.020(5)). 501 Commons, a non-profit organization, is the current program administrator.

WSAC is responsible for reviewing documentation of private contributions received by the program administrator and authorizing release of state matching funds appropriated for that purpose from the opportunity scholarship match transfer account (RCW 28B.145.050).

This bill amends the Opportunity Scholarship Act (Chapter 28B.145 RCW) in the following ways:

- * The Board may now be staffed by more than one program administrator, under contract with the Board and WSAC. (Section 2)
- * The Board may cause one or more tax-exempt nonprofit corporations to be created, organized, and operated to exclusively perform all or some of the program administrator duties.
- * The Board and WSAC may contract directly with any such nonprofit corporation.
- * A state match of private contributions up to a maximum of fifty million dollars shall be provided annually. (Section 3)

The program changes described in this legislation will not result in any additional fiscal impact to the Washington Student Achievement Council (WSAC).
