Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

This bill limits dissemination and use of the results of federal background checks to what is authorized under federal regulations. The bill also clarifies when applicants and licensees who will have unsupervised access to vulnerable adults, children, or juveniles are required to submit fingerprints for both Washington State Patrol and Federal Bureau of Investigation record checks. The bill will have minimal impact to the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS). Any cost increase as a result of this bill will be covered within existing resources. Therefore, there is no fiscal impact to DSHS.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.
