Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

The bill relates to planning for advanced nuclear reactor technology in Washington, and amends RCW 43.21F.088 and creates a new section.

The bill would encourage greater consideration of advanced nuclear reactor technology in developing the state energy strategy.

Section 1(1) states the legislature reaffirms that Washington needs to implement a comprehensive energy planning process and that the state energy strategy developed and periodically reviewed by the Department of Commerce (department) is an important element of that planning responsibility.

Section 2 amends RCW 43.21F.088 to include advanced nuclear reactor technology.

The bill does not require any further consideration of advanced nuclear reactors than would occur under existing practice. This legislation does not affect the department and there is no fiscal impact.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

The activities in HB 1584 do not require any further consideration of advanced nuclear reactors than would occur under existing practice. There is no impact to the Department of Commerce.

Under current law the state energy strategy would be produced next in 2028. At that point, advanced nuclear reactors would be considered along with other alternatives based on cost, commercial availability, and other factors.
