Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

CURRENT LAW:

Generally, property owners pay their property taxes to the county treasurer in two payments one-half due by April 30 and the remainder due by October 31 each year. Typically, the postmark date determines if a payment is timely or delinquent, except if the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday. In that case, if the postmark date is the next business day, the payment is timely. Property tax collection laws do not specify the due dates for timeliness or delinquency of payments received via an automated check processing service or when payments have no discernable postmark date.

PROPOSAL:

This bill requires county treasurers to consider property tax payments timely when generated by an automated check processing service or with no discernable postmark date and if received within three days of the April 30 or October 31 due dates.

EFFECTIVE DATE:

The bill takes effect 90 days after final adjournment of the session.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

This legislation results in no revenue impact to the state property tax levy.

When a property tax payment is delinquent, penalties and interest begin to accrue. Counties keep collected penalties and interest. Any losses because of the three additional days would be minimal but indeterminate.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

The department will have minimal costs of approximately $2,500 for 40 hours of work by a property acquisition specialist in fiscal year 2024 to implement this legislation and will absorb within current funding.

Part IV: Analysis

A. SUMMARY OF BILL

Description of the bill with an emphasis on how it impacts local government.

This bill adds detail regarding the determination of non-delinquency for certain payments received within three days (for payments made to county treasurers for property taxes or special assessments by an automated check processing service).

B. SUMMARY OF EXPENDITURE IMPACTS

Expenditure impacts of the legislation on local governments with the expenditure provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of expenditures. Delineated between city, county and special district impacts.

This bill will not impact local government expenditures.

C. SUMMARY OF REVENUE IMPACTS

Revenue impacts of the legislation on local governments, with the revenue provisions identified by section number, and when appropriate, the detail of revenue sources. Delineated between city, county and special district impacts.

This bill is expected to reduce the number of delinquent property tax payments indeterminately. When a property tax payment is delinquent, penalties and interest begin to accrue. Counties keep collected penalties and interest. According to the Dept. of Revenue, revenue losses due to the decrease in delinquent fees would be minimal and are indeterminate.
