Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

The bill creates a new B&O tax preference for certain amounts received by cooperative finance organizations. A prior preference, RCW 82.04.43394, expired effective July 1, 2017.

TAX PERFORMANCE STATEMENT DETAILS

Section 1 is the tax preference performance statement that categorizes the new preference as one intended to provide tax relief to certain businesses and individuals, as indicated in RCW 82.32.808(2)(e).

The Legislature's specific public policy objective is to reduce the tax burden on individuals and businesses imposed by the existing B&O tax rates.

If a review finds that at least one cooperative finance organization in Washington used the deduction, then the Legislature intends to extend the expiration date.

TAX PREFERENCE DETAILS

Section 2 adds a new section to chapter 82.04 RCW, creating a new B&O tax deduction for amounts received by a cooperative finance organization when they are derived from loans to rural electric cooperatives or other nonprofit or governmental providers of utility services.

Terms used in this section are defined. The section is scheduled to expire January 1, 2034.

Section 3 is an emergency clause establishing the effective date as July 1, 2023.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

Immediately after the 2023 legislative session, JLARC staff would contact the Department of Revenue to ensure that details necessary for a future study will be collected and available.

The expenditure detail noted reflects work conducted to prepare for the future review, which is assumed to be completed in 2031.

This tax preference review may require additional resources. The audit will be conducted and presented to JLARC consistent with the processes used for other tax preference reviews. Based on all tax preference legislation that is passed, JLARC may subsequently determine that it can absorb the costs for this proposed bill in its base budget, if the workload of other enacted tax preference legislation does not exceed current staffing. JLARC will assess all of the tax preference reviews mandated in the 2023 legislative session.

This audit will require an estimated 1 audit month.

JLARC Audit Months: JLARC calculates its staff resources in "Audit Months" to estimate the time and effort to undertake and complete its studies. An "Audit Month" reflects a JLARC analyst's time for a month, together with related administrative, support, and goods/services costs. JLARC's anticipated 2023-25 costs are calculated at approximately $22,100 per audit month.

PROPOSAL:

This bill creates a business and occupation (B&O) tax deduction for amounts received by cooperative finance organizations where the amounts are derived from loans to rural electric cooperatives or other non-profit or governmental providers of utility services organized under Washington's laws.

A cooperative finance organization means a non-profit organization with the primary purpose of providing, securing, or otherwise arranging financing for rural electric cooperatives.

A rural electric cooperative means a non-profit customer-owned organization that provides utility services to rural areas.

The B&O tax deduction expires January 1, 2034.

- The revenue estimate assumes 96.4% of Service and Other Activities B&O income reported to the department is derived from loans to rural electric cooperatives or other non-profit or governmental providers of utility services.
- This legislation takes effect July 1, 2023, and impacts 11 months of collections in fiscal year 2024.

DATA SOURCES

- Department of Revenue excise tax return data

Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.
