Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Senate Bill 5818 proposes an exemption for easements of Seashore Conservation Areas to include construction of utilities related to placement of a telecommunication infrastructure owned by a federally recognized tribe located in a county that borders the Pacific Ocean.

Section 1(6) would require State Parks to grant a renewable 50-year easement for “qualified infrastructure projects” crossing the Seashore Conservation Area. State Parks assumes few projects would meet the definition of a qualified infrastructure project as defined in Section 6(b)(i). The agency assumes no fiscal impact on expenditures, as any additional easements could be processed within existing staff capacity and resources. The fiscal impact for revenue is indeterminate as the number of qualified future easements and fees are unknown.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

Any easements for qualified infrastructure projects granted by State Parks as identified in proposed bill would result in additional revenue from easement fees. These fees are indeterminate and would be calculated upon receipt of future applications.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

The agency assumes no fiscal impact on expenditures, as any additional easements could be processed within existing staff capacity and resources.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Senate Bill 5818 states that, upon request from a qualified infrastructure project owner, the parks and recreation commission and the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) shall grant a permit for access to the lands as well as an easement for a qualified infrastructure project. DNR aquatics has staff roles within the policy unit whose focus is entirely on authorizing land use on state owned aquatic lands. Granting permits and easements would fall in line with normal DNR aquatics business practices and would not require any additional full-time employees (FTE's) to implement the bill. DNR assumes that implementation of this bill can be accomplished with existing staff capacity and resources as part of DNR's regular leasing business.

DNR assumes that coordinating with the parks and recreation commission, reviewing the applications, and granting the easements will add to existing staff workload and potentially take longer to complete the process. However, DNR does not anticipate any fiscal impact due to the implementation of this bill.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.
