Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

The Second Substitute HB 2000 bill reinstates the last paragraph of Sec. 2 that was stricken from the original bill. This language identifies the purpose of the chapter to bring its function under the International Relations and Protocol office that is located within the Governor's Office. Reinstating this stricken language has no fiscal impact to the Agency.

Sec. 4 (1) of the bill includes consultation with Commerce, Department of Agriculture, and other state agencies in regard to the development of international trade relations. This consultation encompasses our current scope of work for the Office of Economic Development and Competitiveness Division (OEDC). The substitute bill adds the Legislative Committee on Economic Development and International Relations to the consultation list. Therefore, there remains no fiscal impact to OEDC.

The Second Substitute HB 2000 modifies Section 3 (2) to include coordination between the Office of International Relations and Protocol and the Legislative Committee on Economic Development when designating foreign jurisdictions of strategic importance to Washington State. This coordination does not affect the Department and maintains no fiscal impact to OEDC.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

The Second Substitute HB 2000 modifies Section 3 (2) to include coordination between the Office of International Relations and Protocol and the Legislative Committee on Economic Development when designating foreign jurisdictions of strategic importance to Washington State. This coordination does not affect the Department and maintains no fiscal impact to OEDC.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Compared to SHB 2000, 2SHB 2000 sections 7 and 8 was removed in current bill. This would not change Washington Department of Agriculture's (WSDA's) fiscal impact as documented for SHB 2000.

Under current law, WSDA's International Marketing Program provides resources to Washington agricultural producers to help them export their products, matches producers with qualified buyers, removes market access barriers, and participates in Governor's missions to promote Washington agriculture.

This bill would require the Office of International Relations and Protocol (OIRP) to develop a strategic international engagement plan and create a common framework for Washington's international activities including trade missions, economic development, and knowledge exchange. Sections impacting WSDA include:

- Section 1 (2) states the OIRP may consult with entities relevant to Washington's international presence when developing the strategic plan and includes cabinet agencies as examples of these entities.
- Section 1 (4) requires the initial strategic plan be submitted by July 1, 2025, with periodic review to measure progress and outcomes at least every two and a half years and a full update every five years.
- Section 2 amends the reasons for creation of the OIRP to include coordinating and improving communication and resource sharing among various state offices, agencies, and educational institutions with international programs.
- Section 4 directs the OIRP, in consultation with WSDA and other appropriate agencies, to Identify up to fifteen foreign jurisdictions that are of strategic importance to the development and diversification of Washington's international trade relations.

Currently, the manager of the WSDA International Marketing Program communicates with the OIRP regarding WSDA's international strategies and activities as well as those of Washington's agriculture industry. The OIRP shares the Governor's international plans and coordinates trade missions of interest to WSDA and the agriculture industry. Current communication and collaboration are implemented on an as-needed basis. This bill would formalize and create more structure around this communication and collaboration, including the formation of a strategic plan that includes WSDA's input.

Because the WSDA International Marketing Program Manager currently communicates and collaborates with the OIRP, any additional communication, collaboration and work resulting from this bill, including input into the strategic plan and identification of strategic foreign jurisdictions, would fall within the expected scope of the program manager's duties. Therefore, the proposed legislation would not have a fiscal impact on WSDA.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.
